The bride wore a handsome imported gown of white satin, heavily embroidered and trimmed in Duchess lace. Her tulle veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she wore a pearl necklace and pin that were heirlooms in the bride's family. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Interesting Engagement.
Says the Baltimore News of Thursday afternoon:
An engagement announced a few days ago which is attracting much attention is that of Miss Marjorie Willard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willard, of Paradise, Catonsville, and Miss William Boime, Saunders, Maryland, United States Navy, son of Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. W. H. G. Bullard, of Annapolis.

Miss Willard, who made her debut two seasons ago, is pretty and popular among the younger set. She is a granddaughter of the late General Joseph A. Hays, who was prominent in Baltimore for years and was on Governor Swann's staff.

Mishopman Bullard is one of the honor men in his class, and will be graduated in June. He is the grandson of the late General Joseph A. Hays, adjutant-general under Governor John Walter Smith, and a descendant of an old English family, his ancestors being colonial landowners in Virginia. Mr. Bullard's grandmother, Ellen Beltrine Turner, of Hinton Lodge, Va., was closely related to the present Mrs. Eliza Dyer, of New York, who was Miss Sydney Turner, of Baltimore. Mr. Bullard's mother was Miss General Saunders, and is well known in Baltimore. The Saunderses lived for many years on the southwest corner of Calvert and Eager Streets. The wedding will be a military one, and will take place some time next September in St. Timothy's Church, Catonsville.

The Civic Betterment Club, an organization of women, took great interest in the work and encouraged the movement for cleaner conditions in every way in their power.

train that they were going north on a bridge burning expedition.

The War Department is silent on the subject of Torreón, Saltillo and Durango, which are reported to have been captured by the rebels.

Still Hopeful.
Washington, D. C., May 5.—While many rumors from Mexico that reach the White House are far from encouraging, President Taft and his Cabinet are still hoping for peace. The Cabinet discussed the Mexican situation at length to-day, and it was determined that this government shall "stand pat" for the present. No more troops are to be ordered to Texas, and for a time at least no war vessels are to be sent to Mexican waters.

Further demonstrations by this government along the Texas frontier or movements in Mexican waters are contingent upon the outcome of the negotiations between the Diaz government and the revolutionists. Until the President is assured that there can be no peace in Mexico, he is not likely to act.

Smugglers Are Arrested.
Laredo, Texas, May 5.—Four men, arrested when the military authorities captured two and a half tons of opium south of this city early to-day, were arraigned before the United States commissioner here and released on bonds of $2,000 each. The men were returned to their owners, who declared that they were unaware of the use to which they are said to have been put in carrying arms and ammunition, supposed to have been intended for smuggling across the Rio Grande. The men arrested were Mexicans.

CARTER BISHOP WINS FIRST LEGAL BATTLE

Former Cashier of Appomattox Trust Company

Acquitted, Verdict Being Entered at Request of Prosecution.

BY A. R. W. MACKREY.

Petersburg, Va., May 5.—Under the ruling of Judge James M. Mullen, excluding the evidence to have been given by R. T. Wilson, clerk of the State Corporation Commission, the State Corporation Commission, the Appomattox Trust Company, charged with the false entry on October 5, 1905, of $20,655, this morning was left without a chance of a trial, and at the request of Commonwealth's Attorney R. H. Mann, a formal verdict of acquittal was entered.

In rendering his opinion, Judge Mullen, stated in effect that the proof of false entry did not measure up to the allegation, and the court would, therefore, exclude the testimony of R. T. Wilson. That brought the trial to a sudden halt. The taking of other testimony would have availed nothing, but instead would have caused unnecessary trouble and waste of time.

Argument on the motion of the defense to exclude the testimony in question was begun yesterday afternoon, and was completed this morning, the court meanwhile having considered the main points raised. The court rendered an exhaustive opinion, citing many cases, among them being that of Charles W. Morse, and the action of the Commonwealth's Attorney was then the only logical step to be taken.

Falsity Not Proved.
The main point rested on the adjective "false," describing the entry. It had never been proved, and there seemed to be no proof forthcoming that the entry of the discount on the paper known as the Young note was false, and collateral matters could not, therefore, be introduced in evidence.

Even though the transaction in which W. L. Young, possessor at the time of only about $1,000, made a note in favor of Charles Hall Davis for $21,000 may have been fraudulent, the entry alleged to have been made by Cashier Bishop was correct and true, and so far, there had been no evidence to the contrary. It had been hoped by the prosecution, however, to show by expert witnesses from the State Corporation Commission that the entry of the discount on the Young note was made to cover up the bank's deficiencies and to prove that the covering up was done only after repeated efforts had been made by the State Corporation Commission to have a statement of the affairs of the institution rendered and after three letters had passed between the commission and the bank officials. Other alleged discrepancies and frauds were also to have been proved. Without this particular evidence, the prosecution had nothing further to go upon, and the case fell.

But the failure of the prosecution to establish its case under indictment No. 2 means practically nothing as to the final outcome. There are now twenty-one other indictments pending against Bishop, and twelve indictments against Alexandria county, Va., to-night in an effort to decide if either of them was the individual who attacked her last Friday night at the family home, "Rock Hill," not far from Rosslyn. Mrs. Mackey was not able to identify either of the men as her assailant, and they were taken back to the county jail, where they are held on other charges.

Another negro, giving the name of George Williams, and claiming New Bedford, S. C., as his home, was arrested to-night on suspicion, and he will be carried before Mrs. Mackey to-morrow. When arrested he had on his person a pistol and nineteen cartridges.

How Many Two Daughters.
Mrs. Mackey and her two daughters, Alice and Virginia, were alone in the house Friday night, Arlyle and Lincoln, two sons, twelve and ten years old, were in the summer kitchen, and it is due to them, it is thought, that Mrs. Mackey escaped a rougher treatment than she received.

Mrs. Mackey had gone into a room to distribute the week's wash when she saw a tall colored man standing in the doorway.

"How dare you come in this house?" Mrs. Mackey asked.

Without making an effort to respond to the question, the negro sprang toward Mrs. Mackey and made an effort to grasp her by her throat. Mrs. Mackey thinks he did not succeed in choking her, but the condition of her throat since that time, her husband believes, indicates that the man did choke her.

Mrs. Mackey caught hold of the hands of her assailant and made a desperate fight to protect herself. Mrs. Mackey's screams irritated the negro, and he shook her violently across the room, telling her to "hush." It happened that a window of the room was open and the outcries of Mrs. Mackey were heard by the boys in the summer kitchen and by neighbors.

Although a diligent search was at once instituted, the negro had disappeared in the darkness, and he has not been captured.

CUTS WAY OUT OF LOCK-UP.
Pocketknife Used by Prisoner to Gain His Freedom.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, N. C., May 5.—Yesterday afternoon oleomann Morgan placed under arrest John Lewis, a white man from North Carolina, for being under the influence of whiskey. Failing to give bond for his appearance before the recorder to-day, the officer placed him in the lock-up for Saturday.

Early this morning, when the policeman stationed at the City Hall made his round, he found a hole cut through the lock-up, seemingly with a pocket-knife, and the prisoner gone. The hole was about eight inches across and between fifteen and eighteen inches long. The lock-up is built inside and out with three-quarter inch plank, but this did not keep Lewis from gaining his liberty. What time the hole was made he has not said, but he has not said the hole was made by a prisoner.

DELEGATES ELECTED.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Heathsville, Va., May 5.—The Methodist district conference, for the year 1911, was held at Heathsville this morning, charged with attacking Mr. James Henry Crowther, of near Tibbitha, this county, that afternoon.

The crime enraged the community, which began a search for Kent. The prompt action of the Commonwealth's attorney in locating the prisoner and putting him in the hands of the sheriff averted most serious action by the infuriated citizens of lower Northumberland.

Kent was employed in the Crowther home, and had been for five years. He was arrested near Burgess Store.
